I. Introduction to Public Administration
Prof. Paul Manna

Paul Manna is an associate professor of government and public policy at the College of William and Mary. His research and teaching interests focus on federalism, implementation, K-12 education policy, and applied research methods.

Course description
This class addresses a common but understandable misperception about American government. Many people believe that elected officials and judges are the most consequential actors in the country’s political system. However, policies and judicial decisions are not self-executing. Rather, they rely on public bureaucracies and thousands of public administrators to implement them. To understand the role of public administration in the United States, this course examines the administrators who manage and implement policy, the tools they use, and the environments in which they work.

Readings

Assignments and grading
The course stresses three skill sets - discussing ideas, writing, and thinking on your feet in timed settings - that all students trained in the liberal arts should possess. Mastering these skills will help you make positive contributions in your future classes, the workforce, and the communities where you eventually reside.

30% Class participation and attendance
15% Midterm exam in-class part
15% Midterm take-home part
20% Final exam in-class part
20% Final exam take-home part

I will base final course grades on the following scale, with partial-percents typically rounded to the nearest full percent: A 93-100, A− 90-92, B+ 88-89, B 83-87, B− 80-82, C+ 78-79, C 73-77, C− 70-72, D+ 68-69, D 63-67, D− 60-62, F < 60.

Finally, because errors sometimes creep into grade calculations -- and on rare occasions papers become lost as they are handed in -- please keep a copy of all work you submit until I have processed final grades.
Class participation
Attendance every day and active class participation are essential components of this class. Everyone should arrive prepared to have thoughtful and energetic discussions about the class material. If generally you are shy in class you should see me early in the semester so I can help you overcome that fear of speaking out. I will distribute a class participation rubric to help you understand what I consider to be excellent class participation.

Midterm exam and final exam
Each exam will contain a take-home (essay) portion and an in-class (short answer) part, with each part weighted equally. The take-home parts will be distributed approximately 2 days before they are due.

In fairness to everyone, students who arrive late for an exam may not work overtime. The only valid reasons for missing and rescheduling an exam are due to a documented illness, religious observance, and death in the family or similarly grave family emergency. If you miss an exam for another reason you can take a makeup for which the maximum grade you can earn is a C (75%).
